Dear Manuraj,

The Graduate Admissions Committee is pleased to invite you to join the Ph.D. program in Chemistry at the University of Minnesota. Congratulations! We look forward to welcoming you to our Department and our community.

In recognition of your outstanding academic accomplishments, we are offering you a teaching assistantship (TA) to support your first year at Minnesota. The 12-month stipend for students who accept this TA package will be at least $27,500 during 2022-2023. In addition, we will provide full tuition benefits and a health care package. Your stipend in future years will come from a combination of research and/or teaching assistantships. Please see the attachments for more details. To learn more about our department and get a sense of the exciting atmosphere at the University of Minnesota, a professor and graduate student have volunteered to serve as your contacts and will be happy to provide you with more information and answer any questions that you may have. Their contact information is noted on the attached pages. You should hear from both of them soon.

As you know, obtaining a U.S. entry visa (F-1) requires a rather lengthy and sometimes difficult process for many foreign students. Hence, we are making an early offer to you and we would advise and greatly appreciate that you accept our offer well before April 15, 2022. As soon as you have accepted our offer, our International Student and Scholar Services Office can start processing the documents necessary for your visa application.

Your background, past performance, and interests have convinced us that you are exactly the type of student who will excel in our program. We are proud of our Department and we would like you to be a part of its future.

Best regards,

Aaron Massari

Admissions Committee Chair and Associate Professor of Chemistry
